

Press Release

Partnership between Sysmosoft SA and the SWITCH foundation

Yverdon-les-Bains, 25. March 2021

Sysmosoft SA, a Swiss provider of trusted and regulated solutions for digital processes, today announces a partnership with the SWITCH foundation to implement electronic signature and seal use cases for the Swiss education ecosystem.

Sysmosoft Let's Sign meet the highest standards in term of privacy and security while achieving a high level of user experience and the strict respect of the latest regulations on electronic transactions. It is widely used by the Swiss financial industry and currently being deployed across highly regulated industries in Switzerland and abroad.

SWITCH provides secure identity services for all university members and other users. Its universal electronic identity, SWITCH edu-ID, is used by more than 460'000 users to access national academic web offerings and beyond.

The move to electronic signatures comes as Swiss universities are striving to automate and fully digitize document-based processes for their employees, students and alumni. Sysmosoft Let's Sign shall be operated by SWITCH and deployed on top of SWITCH edu-ID as authentication mechanism.

"SWITCH is the ideal partner to implement our product for the education vertical" said Frédéric Mauger, Co-Founder and Partner at Sysmosoft. "Sysmosoft is today considered as the leader of the Swiss financial industry. This new partnership is setting up the basis to become a key player in the education sector that has very high requirements in terms of privacy and security."

Christoph Graf, Program Leader of SWITCH edu-ID, said: "The partnership with Sysmosoft allows SWITCH to offer great flexibility in the types of electronic signature offered via web and API hosted by SWITCH. The connection to SWITCH edu-ID ensures optimal integration into the universities' identity infrastructure."
